

WILSON TO JAM THROUGH BILL TO AVERT A STRIKE

Congress to Act Favorably on Eight Hour Day Measure Before Saturday Night—Brotherhood Leaders Will Accept Such Law and Call Strike Off.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 31.—President Wilson went to the capitol today and took personal charge of the campaign to pass legislation this week which he hopes will result in the calling off of the nation-wide railroad strike. It is said that he will use his influence to have immediate action taken on the bill which legalizes the eight hour work day in the operating department of the railroads.

An hour before the president left the White House for the capitol, President Garretson of the Order of Railway Conductors had told the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee that he would accept such a law as sufficient to warrant his ordering the strike called off.

Such a law would be a "satisfactory settlement," Garretson declared, and despite the opposition of the railway presidents the general belief was expressed in official circles that congress will jam the bill through between now and Saturday night.

The president went to the capitol just before 11 o'clock accompanied by Mrs. Wilson. No official statement of his intentions was forthcoming, but it was stated that after he had talked things over with the leaders he would hold a conference at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the railroad chiefs.

Majority leader Kitchin of the house said that he was confident that the eight hour bill could pass both the senate and house but he did not know whether it would be possible to get it through the senate without encountering great opposition from certain leaders of that body.

Washington, Aug. 31.—A direct request that the "big four" brotherhood postpone the date for the commencement of their general strike, scheduled for next Monday morning, was made by Senator Newlands, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, today. When the public hearings on the proposed legislation opened Senator Newlands in a brief speech called attention to the great importance of the legislation under consideration.

"A strike such as is contemplated would involve the entire country in civil war," said Newlands, "and it would be impossible to estimate the terrible consequences of it."

"I trust that before this hearing is concluded the heads of the brotherhoods will realize that congress has entered, with serious and continuous purpose, in an effort to secure a remedy that will be fair to all, and by a postponement of the strike will enable congress to act with the care, deliberation and temperance which the enormous importance of the grave problem demands."

"None of the legislation that we have under consideration calls for compulsory arbitration."

"That should be realized at once, but we have been forced to act with a haste that is most regrettable because it has precluded deliberation that is essential to such important legislation. Congress wants to be fair, but it realizes just what a strike of this character would mean to the great mass of our people."

The first speaker was A. B. Garretson, of the conductors, and in an impassioned argument he accused the railroads of being unwilling to concede anything to the men. He declared that the men, in accepting President Wilson's offer of the eight hour day, had made concessions that were very great. They had sacrificed their demands for overtime and for anything but the shorter work day, he said, and at no time have they found the companies responsive to their desires to secure peace.

The railroads were represented at the hearing by F. D. Underwood, of the Erie, and Daniel Willard, Jr., of the Waterbury, Pennsylvania; Henry Waters, Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville and Nashville; Howard Elliott, New Haven; Samuel Rea, Pennsylvania; R. S. Lovett, U. P.; Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the railway presidents and the committee of managers; Eliza Lee, of the committee of the managers; and Charles P. Neal, formerly United States Commissioner of Mediation.

The brotherhoods were represented by A. B. Garretson, of the conductors; W. S. Stone, B. O. L. E.; W. S. Carter, president B. O. L. E.; and E. Samuel Gompers, president A. F. L. and Frank Morrison, secretary of A. F. L.

There was utter absence of any resentment between the two parties as they gathered in the big committee room. The railway presidents and brotherhood chiefs shook hands warmly but by common consent avoided the issue which had brought them together. It was announced that all of the labor chiefs would talk while the arguments for the roads would be presented by General Counsel Thom, Judge Robert S. Lovett and Eliza Lee. The latter was to refute the arguments of the brotherhoods that the railroads had not been fair with them.

The attitude of the railroad brotherhoods towards the request that the general strike be called off was outlined by President Garretson of the conductors to the senate committee in the following language:

"We are confronted by a very grave responsibility in this crisis when the president of the United States asks us to defer action on an order which has been endorsed by practically our entire strength. To comply might mean the total disintegration of all of our organizations and might substitute mob rule for organized effort. As to the question of authority, so far as my organization is concerned, I can call off the strike but I can only call it off by saying to the men that a satisfactory settlement has been reached."

"I care not what agency effects this settlement but it must be satisfactory."

Garretson then declared that also as far as the president's entire legislative program was concerned, the brotherhoods were out of accord with all of it.

"So far as we are concerned," he said "we are, however, willing to waive our deep-rooted objections to settle labor troubles by legislation and will call off the strike if the eight hour proposal as made by the president is accepted by congress. That action will result in our immediate calling off the strike."

"We cannot, however, withdraw our opposition to the other proposals and we desire to go on record here as being unalterably opposed to the suggestion of compulsory conciliation which would be a weapon placed in the hands of the railroads to fight us."

Garretson declared that it was against the principles of union labor to have questions in dispute settled by legislation, as direct negotiations between the parties has worked far better.

"Mutual respect founded on mutual fear has been our motto," he said. "I admitted that the limited time precluded calm deliberation and declared that, when men on either side of a controversy of this sort find themselves thwarted, 'the veneer of civilization falls away and you find the primal man with original passions, and each side ready to appeal to his club.'"

"This is a demand on the part of the men to be allowed to enjoy something of the ordinary life of an ordinary citizen," he concluded. "Some of us believe that the human factor should be a controlling factor as well as a question of dividends. Railroads, we think, rest under obligations to keep the human part of their machine in as good a condition as the wood and metal parts."

He attacked the attitude of the railroads on the arbitration suggestions, declaring that they wanted arbitration only when they were dealing with a large organization.

"They want arbitration where they fear, but they will refuse where they don't fear it," said the veteran conductor.

As to the argument that the unorganized men were being discriminated against, Garretson said this was not so. Their hope, he said, rested entirely in the hands of their organized fellow workers.

"They are going to be a factor in this war if it comes," he continued. "They will be an element of deadly danger. This danger underlies the social crust and it is liable to be brought to the surface if the worst comes to the worst."

Garretson declared that no power on earth could force the organized brotherhoods to accept the compulsory conciliatory and investigation legislation.

"We have worked under it in Canada," he said, "and we know its effects. It has made the Canadian workingmen a nation of lawbreakers. It would swing the American workingman from being a class with the utmost respect for law to one with nothing but contempt for it. It would place in the hands of the employers a year's time during which they could gather their forces to together to crush organized labor."

So far as the "conscripted" act, permitting the president to operate railroads under military necessity, Garretson said that he and his associates opposed the spirit of it but would make no effort to defeat it.

Asked what action the brotherhoods would take on the resolution of Senator Lee of Maryland asking that the time for commencing the strike be postponed a week to give congress opportunity to deliberate on its legislative program, Garretson said:

"We will make our position on this just as clear to this committee as we already have to the president of the United States before this hearing is closed."

NO LAW TO REGULATE RAILWAY EMBARGOES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 31.—With practically every steam railroad in the United States laying embargoes on freight in anticipation of the general tie-up of the strike of trainmen will bring about, if it is called on September 4 as scheduled there is not a law on the federal statutes books providing for the regulation of this angle of the transportation business, it was stated at the Interstate Commerce Commission today.

The railroads are free to refuse to carry food or any other commodity, under existing laws, it was declared. Last spring, when the congestion of freight at eastern terminals caused a coal shortage, the commission requested the railroad to file notices of refusal with the commission and this request has been complied with during the summer. The commission is powerless to compel the roads to lay or remove embargoes of any sort, however, and cannot even insist upon notice being given that body of the general public.

Conferences are expected to be held between the commission and the American Service Commission, a body of railroad men who control the movement of cars.

Newburgh Theatre Site Sold.

The Marquette property in Newburgh, owned by the Paragon Theatres Corporation and intended as a theatre site, has been sold to Amos F. Holden. Opposition from a church and nearby residents led to the balking of the enterprise through the passage of an ordinance refusing a permit to operate a theatre within 200 feet of any church. A garage was then proposed for the property but this will be given up with the sale. In the interim a family of colored people resided in the building on the lot, which adjoins Mr. Holden's handsome residence.

Autos in a Smash.

An Overland touring car driven by Charles Becker of Middletown was run into by a Packard belonging to Philip Nassar of Poughkeepsie on the Cochatan turnpike near Coldenham Tuesday afternoon, the former car being badly damaged. Miss Ruth Becker of Middletown, one of the party in the Overland, was pitched through the windshield and sustained cuts and bruises but the rest of the people escaped injury.

Judgment for $5,000 Recovered.

Soon after the death of Lucien Ostrander, by falling down a subway shaft in Brooklyn on February 1914, his father, John D. Ostrander, of Gardiner, sued the concern by which he was employed, Ostrander, Y. H. H. Cabot & Rollins Corporation, and has just been awarded a judgment of $5,000.

KINGSTON FREE OF CHILD PLAGUE

The month of August closes in Kingston with no cases of infantile paralysis within the city limits. Dr. Frank A. Johnston, the health officer, when asked about the situation in this city said that since the infantile paralysis epidemic there have been just six cases of the disease in this city. Of this number one patient died, and one was removed to New York City. Of the remaining four cases the patients have recovered and have been released from quarantine. Of the six cases that have appeared in Kingston three were brought from out of town, and three developed in the city, after exposure out of town.

Up to noon today there were no cases of infantile paralysis in this city, and no suspicious cases were reported. There are no cases under quarantine.

There have been many rumors about town, but the statement made above by Dr. Johnston shows conclusively just what the situation is today in Kingston.

This shows that the steps taken by the health officials in establishing a quarantine have proven effective, and the city is free of the disease.

MR. SHEPARD "GOOD MIXER"

Finley J. Shepard seems to have the knack of getting in the spotlight developed to the ninth degree says a Hobart correspondent. Since taking up his summer residence in Roxbury, Mr. Shepard has been winning publicity in an accomplished manner by no means the least of his exploits being to appear in a baseball game in Hobart one day last week on which occasion he covered himself with some glory and much good democratic dirt, as second baseman for the Roxbury nine.

Some good little mixer is Finley J. and, because of it and other substantial qualities of heart and mind, he is rapidly acquiring a popularity in this section second only to that enjoyed by his good wife, who was once Miss Helen Gould. Mrs. Shepard was a spectator at the game, and applauded her husband's good and bad playing with evident enjoyment.

Y. M. H. A. Convention.

The annual convention of the Y. M. H. A. and kindred associations takes place this year at Rochester on Sunday and Monday of next week. Representatives of all the many Y. M. H. Annually the representatives come together and plan for the welfare of the organization for the coming year.

STRIKE WILL BOOM SHIPPING BY BOAT

If the expected tieup of the railroads occurs next week the Rondout creek water front will present a busy scene, as all shipments by boat will be greatly increased. With the shipping facilities by water afforded by Kingston it is hardly likely that there will be any great congestion of freight due to a railroad strike in this city. If the strike continues for any length of time, however, it will present a serious problem for none of the boats will be able to run unless they have an adequate coal supply. As far as known there is some coal stored up for boat use, but the supply, in case there was a tieup on the railroads, would be exhausted before navigation closed for the season.

MOOSE SHYING AT NAME OF SEABURY

Mr. Tuckerman, Progressive Aspirant for Comptroller, Urges Orange County Fellows to Aid Democratic Candidate—Strong Sentiment for Whitman.

Speaking at a meeting of the Progressive City Committee in Newburgh Tuesday evening, Lucius C. Tuckerman of Milton, candidate for state comptroller, made a strong plea in behalf of Judge Samuel Seabury, who will oppose Governor Whitman in the Progressive campaign. Mr. Tuckerman declared that the logical course for the party is to work for Judge Seabury, who seeks to gain a following among the nomination, and thus aid him in the gubernatorial campaign.

No formal action was taken by the city committee. Despite Mr. Tuckerman's arguments in favor of Judge Seabury, endorsement of either Seabury or Whitman was withheld. The members of the committee took the position that every enrolled Progressive should be allowed to decide for himself between the candidates. There is strong sentiment among the conservative element in favor of Governor Whitman, and not a few have signed his petitions.

OFFICIALS NOW PREDICT STRIKE WILL BE AVERTED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Administration officials made the confident prediction this afternoon that the general railway strike will be prevented by legislation. This statement came following a very lengthy conference at the capitol between President Wilson and legislative leaders and while a general hearing on the presidential legislative program was in progress before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

It was admitted that the situation still was extremely acute and that a tie-up in getting the legislation through might nullify all efforts. But when the president left the capitol after being there an hour and forty minutes, he admitted that "progress toward a settlement" was being made.

"All that I care to say is that I came up here to find out what congress was doing," said the president. "And I find that it is making progress."

ALL ARE AWAITING ACTION OF CONGRESS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The railway strike situation centered around congress today. The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee held an all-day session endeavoring to find a way out. It listened to the views of the railroad executives, the brotherhoods, and the shippers on the legislation which President Wilson has proposed to prevent next Monday's strike. Although the outlook was very dark, there still was a possibility that some legislation at least could be agreed on which would help. If a bill satisfactory to the brotherhoods, which will prevent the general strike, can be agreed on by the committee and forced through the senate, the house leaders are ready to adopt a special rule cutting off debate and push it through the lower branch.

It will be at least 24 hours, however, before it will be possible to determine whether this can be done.

Meanwhile the general situation hourly was growing worse. Already many railroads have put into force an embargo on all perishable goods. They are warning passengers that unless they reach their destinations by Sunday night they cannot be responsible for delays. Plans have been perfected for partial operation of roads to break the strike, which all managers now consider to be inevitable. The brotherhood chiefs were standing pat today on the original strike orders. They declare that they had placed in possession of every union man affiliated with the "Big Four" exact information as to what he was expected to do. Injunctions by the courts, which now are being issued, they asserted, would not interfere. The applications to the courts came too late.

All four leaders insisted that they were not even considering demands to postpone the starting of the strike. They denied that any official request for such action had been made to them. That was true on its face, as Judge W. L. Chamberlain, who has been acting for President Wilson, simply "told them out" on the proposition. Whether an official request is to be made and how it is to be made will not be decided until after today's senate hearings are completed. It is realized by the administration officials who are handling the situation that inasmuch as the president has considered the emergency great enough to appeal directly to congress, it would be impolitic now to ask postponement until the attitude of congress can be learned.

Incidentally the house leaders have served notice on the senate steering committee that they will not wait longer than tomorrow to get action from the upper house. If the senate is not then ready to act a measure carrying into effect the original proposition made by the president and accepted by the brotherhoods but rejected by the railroad presidents will be jammed through and passed on to the senate.

Although the plans for the railroads to operate when the strike actually becomes effective are closely guarded, their main essentials are in possession of the brotherhood chiefs. Only main lines will be kept open. Present plans are to recall retired engineers and to promote all loyal firemen to the right side of the engine and to make all local trainmen conductors; the clerks in the general offices and the men in the repair shops are to be pressed into service and roads which have too many of any class of men will distribute them pro-rata among the roads which are short of such men.

Mail trains, passenger trains that are considered absolutely essential, and provision trains, are to be given the right of way over all roads. While independent action is planned there is to be a general co-operation between the roads, and according to the figures available here, the roads agreed to maintain better than a fifty per cent schedule over 100,000 miles of railroad.

Meanwhile there has been competition between the brotherhoods and the railroad managers over securing the services of certain agencies which supply guards and strikebreakers. At least two well known agencies received retainers from both sides to keep out of the struggle, while there is a hardly recognized agency that has not been retained by

15,000 GUARDSMEN TO RETURN HOME

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

El Paso, Texas, 31.—Military bases on the border are humming with fresh activity today owing to the orders issued at Washington for the return to their home stations of militia forces of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Illinois, Missouri, California, Oregon, Washington and Louisiana.

The return in anticipation of a railway strike of about 15,000 men from these nine states will still leave approximately 83,000 militia on the border, but it is said that the government is to keep enough trains running to supply these.

That the withdrawal of the Pershing expedition from Mexico would be hastened if the strike goes into effect on Monday is the prevailing opinion among army officers stationed here. Although reserve rations for at least thirty days are on hand at the expedition camps from Palomas to Juarez, the outlook for the cavalry horses will fall short if the supply is cut off from the provision base at Columbus.

Three New York regiments are to return home. These regiments will be designated by General Funston.

COST OF FOOD WILL SOON SOAR

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 31.—The high cost of living throughout the United States will probably take an upward bound within the next 48 hours as a result of the embargo declared upon perishable freight by the railroads in anticipation of a strike. The New York Central's embargo on perishable freight and livestock goes into effect at midnight Thursday, while that of the Pennsylvania will become operative tomorrow.

The railroad ban covers dressed beef, poultry, fruits and vegetables, as well as livestock. Local slaughter houses will be compelled to cease operations.

The first increase in price for food is expected to appear in the meat markets, to be followed almost immediately by a boost in the cost of fruit and vegetables. Several dairy companies recently increased the price of milk and this occasion may be seized for another increase.

Meeting of Central Hooks.

Tomorrow evening the Central Hook and Ladder Company will hold their regular meeting in their rooms in central fire station, and much business will be transacted. Following the meeting a banquet will be served and an enjoyable time had. All members are requested to attend.

Warrants For Dog Owners.

Although dog licenses were due on May 1 up to today but 600 licenses have been issued by the police department. Last year 1,200 licenses were issued in this city. The police expect to get busy next week and have issued for the arrest of delinquent dog owners.

AMERICAN NURSES' SPLENDID SERVICE

In response to a call from the surgeon-general of the United States army, for Red Cross nurses to be sent to the Mexican border, for active service, some fifty-five expert Red Cross nurses are now hurrying southward to assist the United States army in alleviating the suffering of our armed forces who are policing the southern frontier against raids by marauding Mexican bands. On looking over the personnel and very brief history of some of these nurses who have responded to this call, one is struck with the fact that our American women have been doing splendid service for their human kind all over the world.

Miss Nell Floss Steel of Columbus, Ohio, has been a member of one of our hospitals in Serbia, and the world will never forget what was accomplished by those hospital units in Serbia.

Miss Antoinette Alschier, in 1915, a member of the Dallas, Texas, detachment, in company with several other Red Cross nurses, rendered invaluable service in relieving the misery of the injured pawns there.

Miss Margaret McGary has seen service with our American Red Cross unit in Kiev, Russia.

The Misses Lulu T. Lloyd and Nannie Hardy, both of Washington, D. C., were at Vera Cruz, with the army nurse corps during the occupation by the United States forces in 1914.

Miss Margaret H. Patterson of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Harriet D. Hopkins, of Washington, D. C., have both had valuable experiences in European hospitals during the present war.

By special authorization of the surgeon-general, each of the twenty-five Red Cross base hospital units, recently organized, has been requested to designate from its personnel, two nurses for service on the border, believing that this will greatly increase the efficiency of these units should they be needed for active duty. It will be seen from the foregoing that our men on the border will have the best of most experienced and scientific nursing should they need the same.

Canaan is a few thousand miles from ancient Canaan of the Bible, yet it is quite a progressive town with a fine brick Congregational Church, several stores, a large up to date school house and a handsome stone railroad depot. This place is only six miles from Pittsfield, Mass., a large, progressive city, and one and a half miles from Queck Lake, a well known summer resort for city people. The capital of the state is 28 miles from Canaan and it is an interesting ride over the Berkshire Hills. The Albanians appear to be a happy, progressive and healthy people and not excited over the "paper politics" of the city and state. The return via Catskill, Saugerties and Kingston was a reminder of the beauty of the Hudson.

WHOLESALE RHUBARB.

If Solomon had lived in this century he would no doubt have written that of the making of recipes there is no end, and yet there is really nothing new under the sun. Food combinations which are passed on from one to another as original may be found verbatim in some popular cook book, so that a truly new recipe is as rare as a perfectly satisfied person.

As rhubarb is cheap, is easily grown, and when one has a small garden spot a few plants will yield all one needs for the table it is evident that too much has not been said in its favor.

One method of canning it for winter use to be made into pies, is very simple—prepare it by removing the peeling and cut in bits, then fill fruit jars as full as it can be packed in, and turn in the cold water from the tap or pump until it overflows and all the bubbles of air are expelled. Put on the rubber and cover and seal as usual.

Of course it is hardly necessary to state that the jars should have been well sterilized, the rubbers dipped in hot water and the tops well sealed to make the sterilization complete.

Rhubarb Jam.—Cut the rhubarb in lengths and choose the stalks that have a good red color. If cut very early in the spring it need not be peeled, but later the skin becomes tough. Cover the cut rhubarb with an equal weight of sugar and let stand overnight. For each three pounds of fruit add a thinly sliced lemon, discarding the seeds. Cook a half hour after beginning to boil, then simmer for another half hour. At the last add a small quantity of shredded, blanched almonds and put in jars for winter use.

A most delightful combination for those who are fond of ginger is four pounds of sugar to five pounds of rhubarb, the juice and rind of three lemons and a small jar of preserved ginger with the sirup. Add a cupful of water, cut the ginger very fine and cook slowly an hour. Put into jelly glasses and seal as usual.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 31, 1916.

With the steady growth in the use of motor-driven vehicles, conditions have changed within the last few years and some new departures in the way of safety precautions for street travel have become an absolute necessity. Safety signal standards at dangerous corners where the use of these devices would be practically impossible would doubtless do much to correct the tendencies of careless drivers to violate the law. The rules in one community are often the exact opposite to those prevailing in another and a greater degree of uniformity in all cities would be helpful. As is usual with agitation on this subject, however, the burden of responsibility for living up to the rules is too frequently placed upon the automobilist without requiring equal exercise of care on the part of the pedestrian or the drivers of horses. The practice of "jay walking," a term used to characterize the course of thoughtless persons who walk diagonally across corners at intersecting streets, is one of the chief causes contributing to accidents where the person on foot is the victim. Another evil is cutting across streets between blocks by children and people old enough to know better. With the phenomenal increase in automobile travel through Kingston, it is high time that a campaign of education be instituted to correct these faults. In adopting new ordinances, the authorities should exercise common sense and fairness in dealing with the claims of

This map shows what effect the entrance of Rumania into the great struggle will have on the war. As indicated by the arrows, Rumania will attack Austria on the north and Bulgaria on the south at the same time. Russia will be able to cross Rumania to strike Bulgaria and possibly Turkey from the rear. Russia will also be able to cross the narrow strip of Rumanian territory shown at the top of the map and thus strike a new blow at Austria.

The series of crosses at the bottom of the map indicate the present battle line in Macedonia.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Aug. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Elias Niles motored to Kingston on Tuesday with George Holman.

Mrs. Dr. Vrooman of Kingston passed through the place on Wednesday.

William Connors was in town Tuesday.

Lewis Sherman has returned to New York after a month's vacation. Miss Elizabeth Hutchins visited Kingston Wednesday.

Mason Van Wageningen returned to the city after a week end spent at the home of his parents.

Mrs. Henry Duym was in Kingston one day the past week.

Miss Loretta Osterander went to Staten Island the past week to visit with friends from Michigan, that being her former place of residence.

Mrs. George Terwilliger and daughter, Helen, were in Kingston Thursday.

Thomas Snyder motored to Poughkeepsie the past week for his daughter, Mrs. George Feltman who with her little son is visiting at her father's.

Mrs. George Hoffman, Mrs. Yeaple and Mrs. Erasmus Christiansa were in Kingston on Friday.

Miss Amanda Williams is assisting Mrs. Weber, who has a number of summer boarders.

Mrs. Cinderella Depuy, Miss Elizabeth Depuy, Mrs. Anthony Duym, Miss Nettie Duym, Mrs. Davis and Miss Inez Gray spent the day at Lake Mohonk the past week.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Missionary Society was held in the lecture room of the Reformed Church on Thursday afternoon, August 24, at 3 o'clock. Meeting was called to order by Mrs. Oscar Church, the president, on account of the illness of Miss Frances Shaw of Walden, who was expected to address the meeting being unable to be present. Instead of her expected talk on mission work among the Indians the time was devoted to a discussion of the chapter on Korea from the King's High Way. Miss Frances Shaw has promised to meet with the society at some future time, her health permitting. At the close of the meeting the president invited the ladies to remain for a social hour. Refreshments of cake and lemonade were served.

Miss Inez Gray was in Kingston on Monday.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, Aug. 31.—Mayor Mitchell of New York city spent Sunday at Waldo Smith's.

Communion services in the Reformed Church next Sunday.

The Greene, Longyear, Allen and Scott cottages are filled with city guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham of Schenectady have returned after spending some time at Dr. W. Longyear's.

The child of Hubert Roosa of West Shokan, which is suffering from paralysis was, at last report, improving.

Albert E. Schoonmaker, resident of old Shokan, now living in Stone Ridge, drove through here on his way to Phoenixia Sunday. Mr. Schoonmaker carries his 76 years very lightly indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Nolte of Brooklyn are stopping at Deauville.

Machinery for the new state road construction is arriving and work will soon be commenced. A little inconvenience for everybody for a while, but the need for a better road is great, so there will be no kicks heard from our people.

Richard and William, one of Modena, old friends and neighbors, motored here Saturday and made some calls.

Henry Barley and family have returned from Poughkeepsie and are now living in one of Jacob Crispell's houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carter of Mt. Tremper are spending some time at William Bogart's.

George Giles is repairing the buildings on Dr. John Pilgrim's farm.

Cutting brush and weeds is the farmer's job this week. The county superintendent of highways sent out postal card notifications this year warning property owners to cut the brush along the highway before September 1, after which date the town will attend to it and assess costs to owner. We like to see people cut their own brush and do it in time. It shows a man to be a little ahead of the game for one thing.

George Windrum has filled his own barn with hay and is now engaged in getting in for others. Granville Weeks is assisting him.

The town reunion at Boiceville to be held on Labor Day promises to be larger than ever this year. Printed invitations have been sent out but everybody is welcome at the love feast.

Mrs. John DuBois and Elnora DuBois of Collettsville are visiting Mrs. Loren Secor.

Charles Hogan, our expert chauffeur, is doing a good business showing parties the beauties of the reservoir.

Dorothy Hyde has returned from New York, where she has been visiting relatives.

The Waynes family is spending the summer at their place above Boiceville.

George Markle of New Haven and brother Art of Port Jervis, and party motored here Saturday to see the dam and call on acquaintances.

Sunday's termination to the drought was a sodasaker as well as a great relief.

Allen Hughes has returned from Rockland Lake and is now employed at Brown's Station.

Mrs. Joseph Randozzo and little daughter of New York are spending the summer on the Coons farm.

Some smash up at Kenosia Lake Sunday afternoon. As the accident occurred about the time the boulevard was crowded there was considerable excitement. We doubt if that Ford car will ever run again, but it took a tasty bite out of the Winton Six before departing this mobile life.

William Tuellius of Rockland Lake spent Sunday with his family.

Services in the O. S. Baptist Church Sunday were conducted by Elder Clark of Delaware county.

O. R. Hillebrand and party of Kingston motor up to their camp at the foot of High Point nearly every day.

A stone walk has been laid in front of the Reformed parsonage and a walk and stone steps added to the church property.

A big National car ran in the bank above Beechford recently. Two people were injured and every spoke broken out of one front wheel.

Ruth Longyear of Brooklyn is spending a few days at home.

We have recently called our readers' attention to the want-wits who rush through the village at fifty mile clips, the over grown children who litter up every pretty spot along the boulevard with their luncheon accessories, and now we write of another species of pests, those human vacuum who block their cars with five pound rocks and then go off and leave them (the rocks) in the road.

We are all hoping for the speedy recovery of Jacob Smith, who is a sufferer from paralysis at his home on the west side.

Frank Barringer has a new gray horse.

Stur Elmendorf, the hustling young salesman, gets over a lot of ground in that little green car.

The wild mustard having come and some, our farmers have with them that old standby, the wild carrot. This pestiferous weed requires use of the scythe right on time, else it increases a hundred fold another year. No race suicide in that family.

Frank Morris, who lost his pocket-book recently, found it after a week's search. Perseverance pays.

Lewis Thiel caught a 22 inch William Patterson and Mr. and Mrs.

pickrel on Tuesday morning near the gate chambers. His entire catch that morning weighed about 25 pounds.

Auto excursions consisting of several cars are becoming popular. They come long distances to see the dam. By their pennants we shall know them.

Ethel Giles of Poughkeepsie is visiting her cousin, Izora Giles.

Catholonia Lambert has a large herd of young cattle grazing on his pasture near Traver Hollow bridge.

How do you like our motorcycle cops? They look good to us. Speedsters, look out for Sergeant "Joe" on his new Indian.

SEAGER.

SEAGER, Aug. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thiel caught a 22 inch William Patterson and Mr. and Mrs.

Dudley Todd of Barborton, Ohio, are spending a few weeks visiting their many friends and relatives here.

Niles Fairbairn is shipping quantities of cauliflower from the farm of Harry Burns, of which Mr. Fairbairn is superintendent.

Miss Reta Van Stenberg and girl friend are visiting Mrs. Charles Avery.

J. F. Dwyer, in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League, gave an interesting address at the school house on Sunday afternoon.

Hotel Fairbairn of this place is employed at Mrs. Locke's cottage at Arkville.

The Rev. George Webber will hold services in the school house on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Several from this place attended the Margaretville fair last week.

Plans are being made for the annual Sunday school picnic to be held on Thursday in the Armstrong Grove.

Dr. Anderson, Orson Avery and Richard Avery motored to Kingston Saturday.

A light frost was seen in this place on Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gould were successful in catching two largemouth, one weighing 3½ lbs. and the other 2½ lbs.

The annual business meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Mary Gray. Annual reports were read and officers elected for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. Emily Kittle, vice president, Mrs. Eliza George, secretary Mrs. Lucy Armstrong and treasurer Mrs. Rachael Todd.

TOPICS NEW YORK IS TALKING ABOUT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 31.—An increase of five hundred millions of imports and a decrease of one hundred millions of customs revenue is the reason why this administration is compelled to impose numerous special taxes designed to raise $205,000,000, besides selling bonds for $150,000,000 and incurring indebtedness which undoubtedly will necessitate far greater bond sales. In a word, the Underwood tariff bill is a complete failure as a revenue producer. Many inquiries as to the necessity for those special taxes, whether they are solely the result of Democratic extravagance, or whether they are caused by the preparedness program, have reached your correspondent. The simple, fundamental fact is as stated. While Democratic extravagance has doubtless played an important part, and while the preparedness program may be held to account for a part of the need, the tariff statistics issued by the treasury department really tell the story. Contrary to a popular impression, the European war has not decreased imports. On the contrary. As compared with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, (when the Payne tariff bill was in effect) the imports for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916, show an increase of $544,820,000; but the tariff revenue collected thereon shows a decrease, as compared with that collected in 1912, of $99,391,000. Obviously, with a tariff bill which falls so far short of even the Democratic ideal, "a tariff for revenue only," the most rigid economy should have marked the appropriations of congress, and equally obviously, the grossest extravagance has marked those appropriations; but if the Payne duties were still in force, with an increase of over five hundred millions in imports the entire preparedness program could have been cared for without the imposition of a penny of special taxes.

After the War.

There has been a great deal of talk about conditions after the war. The Republicans believe there will come an era of the fiercest industrial competition and that unless the tariff law is amended the industries of the United States will suffer disaster. The Democrats, however, profess to believe that an era of prosperity will follow the end of the war, and they actually insist that the present prosperity is permanent. Facts and figures, however, speak louder than academic argument and here are facts and figures. When the European war broke out 55 per cent of the plant of the Carnegie Steel Company was idle, and there was much distress among its employees. Recently 100 per cent of its plant was running full time and its employees are prosperous. But—and it is a big but—55 per cent of its recent output consists of ammunition, or some form of steel designed for use in making ammunition. The instant the war ends, 55 per cent of the plant will again be idle, and so will the employees who are operating it.

The Threatened Strike.

Reports from Washington as interpreted here are that President Wilson, having himself failed to settle the railway controversy, will get from congress some measure of sufficient scope to avert the strike. There is much opposition to Mr. Wilson's recommendations, and part of them will doubtless be rejected. Many members of congress take the view that the president's recommendation regarding the Interstate Commerce Commission and an increase of freight rates is tantamount to asking congress to instruct a judicial body as to how it shall render its decision. New York believes the commission is practically certain to allow an increase of rates commensurate with the increase of wages. However, with the election at hand and with the prospect that a general strike would prove disastrous politically to the party controlling both house and senate, it is thought there is little likelihood that the majorities will stand so long on the equities of the case as to permit of a general strike. The situation is a difficult one from a political standpoint, from whatever angle it is viewed, as a general increase of freight rates is not likely to prove popular with the great mass of farmers and shippers throughout the country.

The Federal Reserve Act.

It is generally remarked that all the credit which this administration might have derived from the enactment of the Federal Reserve Act has been destroyed by the appointment of John Skelton Williams, who has made the most thoroughly unfit comptroller of the currency in the history of the National Bank Act. A striking commentary on Williams is found in a letter addressed to him by J. J. Earley, president of the Bank of Valley City, N. D. Mr. Earley says, in part: "The bank of which I am president is one of the few state banks in North Dakota with sufficient capital to be eligible under the law for admission into the Federal Reserve system. In banking capital, least investment in real estate, it is in third place among the more than 650 banks now operating under our state law. The officers and directors of the Federal Reserve bank of the Ninth district have repeatedly invited and urged us to join and have frequently asked our objections to joining. We are fully conscious of the great benefits to trade, industry and investments, as well as the business of banking specifically, that are possible as a result of the federal reserve system. If administered wisely and kept free of personal and political influences, and we would gladly pay our pro rata share of the expense of maintaining the system, which is now being borne by the national banks exclusively. We are conscious, too, as all must be, including yourself, that the reserve bank system will not reach its full measure of usefulness while more than three-fourths the country banks remain outside, and we look with misgivings, as you must, on the numerous conversions of national banks into state banks now taking place throughout the country, which must result in a further weakening of the federal reserve system. There must be good and sufficient reasons for these numerous conversions that are taking place, and there must also be reasons why eligible state banks, except in a few isolated cases, are not joining. The writer of this letter is a Democrat, his predecessor in the office of president was a Democrat, and four of our nine directors are Democrats, which is a larger proportion than is usual in this overwhelmingly Republican state. We give full credit to the present Democratic administration for placing the Federal Reserve law on the statute books, and for the honest and patriotic intention of President Wilson to make the system a success. But we have no present intention of joining the federal reserve system, nor of converting into a national bank, and our principal reason for deciding to remain outside and of continuing to operate as a state bank is John Skelton Williams, the present comptroller of the currency, from whose authority we are now happily and wholly free—and we intend to remain so."

Wilson Weak.

The friends of Governor Oakley C. Curtis, Democratic candidate for reelection in Maine, are authority for the statement that Governor Curtis is as much stronger than President Wilson in that state that it has been a sacrifice of the governor's interests to introduce national issues into the Maine campaign and to permit members of Mr. Wilson's cabinet to address the voters. The Democratic State Committee is seriously contemplating an eleventh hour shift, the ignoring from now on of national issues and a straight fight for the reelection of Mr. Curtis on his record as governor.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Aug. 31.—At the annual meeting of the Beaver Dam Club for the election of officers, held in Ellenville on Friday, August 25, the following were elected to office for the year: President, T. H. Potter; vice president, John McDowell; secretary and treasurer, L. E. Vernon; trustees, Thomas H. Collins and H. B. Dutcher.

Mrs. W. D. Cunningham and Miss Edith Wright are spending a week at Orange Lake.

Mrs. Thomas Dow returned to her home at Jersey City Heights after a visit of two weeks with her sister, Mrs. William Duggan.

Mrs. George Kelly of Pine Bush was in town Wednesday for the funeral of Mrs. George Cameron.

Mrs. Elizabeth Parker Gould of Brooklyn is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parker, at their home at the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fowler spent Wednesday at Newburgh.

Dr. W. E. Woodend is spending the week in New York.

The funeral of Mrs. George W. Cameron was held from her late home on North Main street, Ellenville, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The service was in charge of the Rev. H. P. Hobson, of St. John's Episcopal Church, of which deceased was a member. The O. E. S. of which Mrs. Cameron was worthy matron, was in charge of the service, which is very beautiful and impressive. Two beautiful selections were rendered. Associate W. M. Mrs. Van Keuren had charge of the service. The pall bearers were I. W. Millard, W. Kelly Shook, Frank Sanford, A. J. L. Wolf, Joseph Hyatt and Eugene G. Bishop. The floral expressions of love and sympathy of friends and relatives were many and very beautiful. There was a large attendance at the service. The interment was made in the Fairview Cemetery.

A large number of city people stopping at the different boarding houses in Ellenville and vicinity are returning to their homes, fearing the impending railroad strike.

NO ARCTIC WARRIORS.

As Hunters the Natives Are Wanderers, but Cannot Make Soldiers.

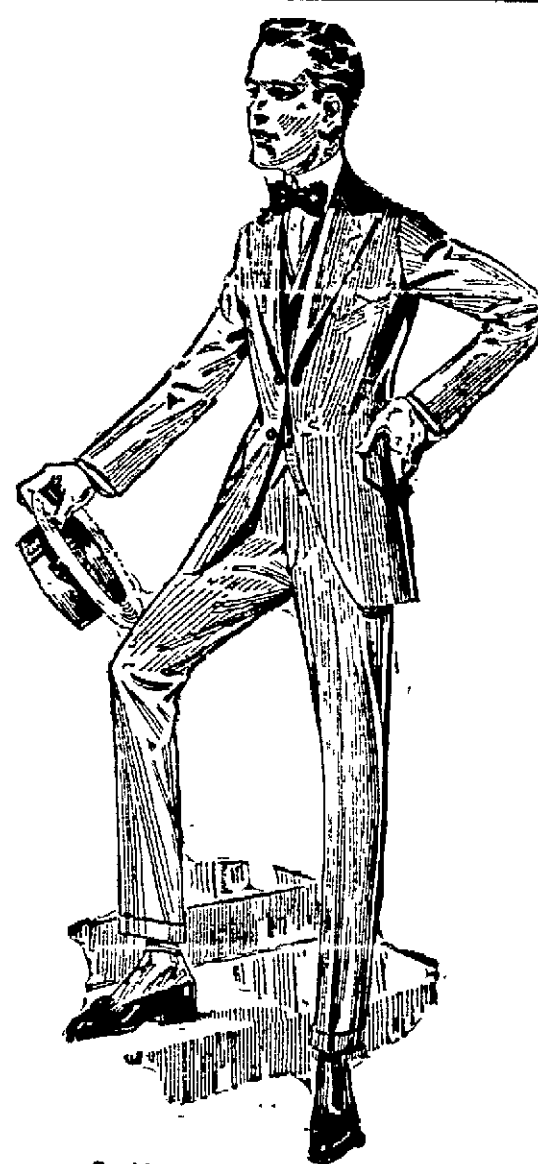

Battle history halts at the arctic circle. Beyond that human life is so difficult to sustain that its wilful waste is unthinkable. Nations with a foothold in the icy north recruit no armies in that frigid zone. Indeed, the men of such meager stature and intellect that a military training is next to impossible.

The real natives of the arctic can endure hunger and fatigue, can march in their own fashion through hurricane and blizzard, but their value is rather to the explorer of the inhospitable north than to the soldier. As hunters they are wonderfully clever, yet they are curiously formal in administering the coup de grace.

They will apologize to the fierce white bear which they have cornered before advancing to a close attack with bone tipped arrows and spears, a duel in which the odds seem decisively on the bear destroying the man. They are therefore not cowards in any sense, and few specimens would risk their lives against bear and wolf and walrus protected only by futile weapons and their own personal dexterity.

The Lapps and Samoyeds of arctic Russia, like the Eskimos of North America and Greenland, are so often compelled in times of dearth and famine to sacrifice their aged weaklings that this form of death has become a vague religious and social principle with them.

Nature's Rifle Bullets.

What man has learned by dint of thought and experiment some of the lower animals appear to know through instinct. An instance is furnished by what is called the "spiral swimming" of certain organisms, such as the spheroidal infusorians. As these revolve about the axis of progression in the manner of a projectile fired from a rifle gun the consequence is that they are able to travel in a straight line, as they could not do otherwise, the revolution compensating with absolute precision for any tendency to deviate from a straight course. Without such a device many of these minute creatures would simply describe circles, making no forward progress.

Creation of a Knight.

The ceremonies at the creation of a knight have been various. The principal were a box on the ear and a stroke with a sword on the shoulder. John of Salisbury tells us the blow with the naked fist was in use among the ancient Normans. By this it was that William the Conqueror conferred the honor of knighthood on his son Henry. It was afterward changed into a blow with the flat of the sword on the shoulder of the knight.

COUNTESS VON BERNSTORFF FOUND BRITISH COURTESOUS ON WAY TO JOIN HER HUSBAND HERE.

(Count and Countess von Bernstorff) Photographed on the Deck of the Frederick VIII, After the Count Had Boarded the Vessel to Meet Her.

New York, Aug. 31.—For the first time since the beginning of the European war, the Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador to this country has seen her husband. The Countess arrived here on board the Frederick VIII of the Scandinavian-American line, sailing from Copenhagen.

Except to say that she had been treated with the utmost consideration by the British officers who boarded the vessel at Kirkwall, the Countess had no comment to make on her trip. Countess von Bernstorff was formerly Miss Joanne Luckemeyer, of New York.

HELPING OTHERS.

Every day might easily be made a happy day for some one. Even into the depths of misery happiness can penetrate, and a kindly word, a cheerful word or a little bit of timely assistance often works wonders and brings joy where all was gloom before. You can help each day by making at least one person happy.

SORROW.

It seems to me it is the same with love and happiness as with sorrow—the more we know of sorrow from our own experience the better we can feel what other people's lives are or might be, and so we shall only be more tender to them and wishful to help them.—Eliot.

NATIONAL SCOUT OFFICIAL IN CITY

Field Commissioner Buddy Tells of Wonderful Growth of Boys' Organization Throughout Country—Non-military, Order Teaches Chivalry, Patriotism and Loyalty.

Local Boy Scout circles today were enthused by the arrival in Kingston of National Field Scout Commissioner Lewis Buddy, from headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America at 200 Fifth avenue, New York. Commissioner Buddy is the guest of Scout Commissioner Charles A. Warren and together they are taking up the work of putting the city organization on a most efficient basis. A meeting of the council and others interested will be held tonight at the Kingston Club in furtherance of the work.

The remarkable national growth of the Boy Scout movement has been a conspicuous feature of activities the past year and Commissioner Buddy speaks most enthusiastically of the order and its objects which are to instill chivalry, patriotism and loyalty in the minds of American youth, building to make them citizens of the most useful type.

Contrary to a mistaken impression, the Boy Scouts is a non-military organization and its members have no military arms or manual of arms. In teaching the boys scoutcraft and building up character, the object is to make them good citizens first and available as soldiers should their country need them.

Some figures given by Commissioner Buddy show a 10 per cent increase in membership during 1915, and it is hoped to make a 60 per cent increase for the present year. In June alone more than 17,000 Scouts were added to the roll and the total membership of registered Scouts is now 260,000. The uniform and title of the organization are protected by federal enactment.

Kingston Scouts are much interested in the work and an effort will be made to increase the local council in numbers.

SOCIETY NOTES.

A very pretty birthday party took place at Mr. and Mrs. J. Hren's home at 16 Pine street Wednesday afternoon, when they celebrated the 20th birthday anniversary of their only daughter Elizabeth. The home was decorated with beautiful flowers and a delicious luncheon was served. Miss Hren received very pretty and costly presents from Virginia, Brooklyn and Ulster Park. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Hansbeck, Mrs. Brindl, and Mr. Frohn of Brooklyn, Mrs. Weissner of Ulster Park and Mrs. Preper.

A very pleasant surprise was given by Laura Sutton and Helen Rose at the home of Mrs. Augustus Roe of St. James street on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forde of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Forde was formerly Miss Winnie Roe of this city. During the evening various games were enjoyed by all present, and music was furnished by piano and violin, which accompanied the singing. Refreshments were served and at a late hour the guests departed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Forde a safe journey home. Those present were the Misses Ruth Kidd, Marie Lawless, Emma Mackle, Bessie Shults, Maude Winne, Helen Rose, Laura Sutton, and the Messrs Jack Curran, Mark Lockwood, David West, James Roe, Frank Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forde, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Roe.

Dugan-Mayer.
John Dugan of No. 46 Hasbrouck avenue, and Miss Rose Mayer of No. 124 Hasbrouck avenue, were united in marriage on August 22 by the Rev. Stephen P. Connelly of St. Mary's Church. The witnesses were Lela Mayer and Michael Mayer.

Dougherty-Dunn.

William O. Dougherty, Jr., of No. 5 West Union street, and Miss Lillian E. Dunn of No. 272 Broadway, were quietly married on Wednesday evening at the parsonage of the Trinity M. E. Church by the pastor, the Rev. P. C. Weyant. The witnesses were John A. Murphy and Miss Hilda M. Spait. Mr. and Mrs. Dougherty will make their home at No. 272 Broadway where newly furnished rooms await them. The groom is employed by Charles Spait, the Delaware avenue grocer and baker, and both he and his bride have a host of friends who wish them a long and prosperous married life.

QUARRYVILLE

Quarryville, Aug. 31.—Mrs. Joshua Post and son Jesse spent Sunday with friends at Katsbaan.

William Von Gretchen and wife of Catskill spent Sunday with Mrs. Von Gretchen's parents Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Schoonmaker.

Henry Hallenbeck and family spent Sunday with friends in Asten.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marce attended service at Blue Mountain Sunday morning.

Quite a number of our people attended the Katsbaan church Sunday.

Leroy Cooke has gone back to Waterbury, Conn., after receiving his health.

Rev. G. E. Robinson and Rev. P. N. Chase were through the place last Friday afternoon, in the interest of the Prohibition party.

Preaching service at the M. E. Church next Sunday at the usual hour 7:30 p. m.

Lela O'Brien and wife of Albany are visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien.

New Station in New Paltz.

The Civic Committee of the New Paltz Study Club has received word from Division Superintendent W. K. McCoy that he will take up with them the matter of a new station on the Walkill Valley railroad in that village.

PASTOR RETURNS AFTER 44 YEARS

Sermon by the Rev. Thomas S. Bond Highly Appreciated in Esopus—Sentences From Sermon 44 Years Ago Quoted.

Esopus, Aug. 31.—The Rev. Thomas S. Bond, of Morris Heights, New York city, preached in the Methodist Church last Sunday morning. Forty-four years ago he was stationed at Esopus, this being his first appointment. Nearly all of the attendants of the church at that time have passed away, but a few still remain and were pleased to greet their former pastor. Among the number were Mrs. O. E. McLain and Alfred Terpening. S. E. Mott was a young lad at the time of Mr. Bond's pastorate here, and had never met the reverend gentleman since he left the village, but when accosted by him on the street Sunday morning, Mr. Mott immediately recognized him and proceeded to quote a sentence from a sermon he had heard him preach in Poppletown. The sentence was as follows: "A constant dropping of water will wear a rock; but it will be many years before all the rocks in Poppletown are worn away." Mr. Bond's sermon last Sunday was very interesting and instructive and was listened to with great pleasure by the congregation. Communion service will be observed in the Methodist Church next Sunday morning.

Mrs. Hullen has returned from her visit to Monticello, and reports a very restful visit with her friends at that place.

The food sale last Saturday afternoon was a financial success in spite of the threatening weather. Everything that had been advertised and some additional ones—were in evidence and were all disposed of at a fair price.

Seward Jaycox, with his wife and son, Thomas, and Miss Ethel Hustis, all of Cold Spring, motored to Esopus last Sunday afternoon and called upon the Rev. K. M. Robbarts and family.

Mrs. C. Beakes of New York city, an old time resident of Esopus, was a guest of Mrs. Emory Proctor last week. Mrs. Beakes is a sister of the late Emory Proctor and wife of Charles Beakes, who conducts the famous Beakes' creameries.

Among the patrons of Percy Mott we notice the Dummer brothers who are driving a nice five passenger Ford car.

Miss Laura Gildersteeve of Kingston visited her friend, Miss Estelle House, last week.

A few of the young ladies of this village enjoyed an outing at Indian Rock last Friday. Among the number were the Misses Marian Mott, Hazel Mott, Rena Soltong, Florence Booth and Elizabeth Hummel. Bathing in the Hudson was one of the pastimes of the day and was much enjoyed.

Miss Emily Thompson, with a party of friends from New York city, visited Slabides on Wednesday of this week.

Dan Freer is enjoying his new five passenger Ford, purchased a few days ago.

Mrs. Lulu Smith and daughter, Isabelle, with Mrs. Smith's aunt, Miss Mary Bedford, are spending part of the summer in Esopus.

Mr. Sheldon is busily engaged gathering his large crop of peaches and shipping them to Rondout.

NUGGETS OF NEWS.

Unusual Events Briefly Told in Telegraph Despatches.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Mincola, N. Y.—The "Lovie Dovie" Tootsie Wootsie Letters" written by Thomas Blacott to Mrs. Christina Grabow were worth $5,000. A jury has awarded damages for that sum to Grabow who sued for alienation of affections.

New York.—Grocers report an unprecedented rush of housewife shoppers who are laying in huge supplies of staples in fear of railroad tie-up.

New York.—Hat shop offered "All straw hats ten cents each." Police officers had to be called out to disperse part of the bargain seeking mob.

Peaches Will Be High.

Peaches will be high this season, according to wholesalers, who are paying $1 and upwards a basket at this stage. The crop is said to be light. Elbertas, usually the latest peaches from Ulster's famous orchards to appear on the market, have appeared in small quantities and within a few days more of this variety are expected. It is reported that the hot weather following the long wet spell of early summer ripened Elbertas unusually early, as mid-September usually marks the beginning of the harvest.

Difference in Diagnosis.

Diagnosis of the illness of Myrza Tobias of the town of Lloyd as a case of poliomyelitis by Health Officer John L. Becker has led to a disagreement with Dr. Fred Coddington who pronounced it a bilious attack and administered physic. The child, has recovered. A representative of the State Health Department confirmed Dr. Becker's diagnosis. One of the child's arms was "out of order" a few days, according to Dr. Coddington.

Highland Girl On Stage.

Miss Helen Byron, who will appear in the leading female role in the "Midnight Maidens" at Cohen's Theater, Poughkeepsie, during the last three days of the week, is a Highland, Ulster county, girl. She has been with musical companies for several seasons, and so much did Gus Hill, the musical comedy director, believe in Miss Byron's work that he has placed her at the head of his "Midnight Maidens."

At The Hospital.

Corsetta Christina of No. 39 Gage street removed to the Kingston City Hospital in the ambulance.

FATHER HALL TO BE HERE ON SUNDAY

The Rev. Charles Mercer Hall, rector of St. Mary's Church, Asheville, N. C., is spending some time at Rosemount, the home of Judge Alton P. Parker, at Esopus. On Sunday Father Hall will officiate at the Holy Cross Church, in this city. The early communion will be celebrated at 7:20 a. m., and the regular morning service with high mass at 10:30 a. m. It will be a great pleasure for the many friends of Father Hall to meet him at both of these services on Sunday.

R. R. UNION HEADS REFUSE TO RECEDE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Aug. 31.—President Wilson this afternoon failed in a personal effort to have the heads of the railway brotherhoods call off or postpone their orders for a general railway strike to become effective next Monday morning. The labor leaders were with the president for more than half an hour but insisted that either congress must pass the eight hour day, or the railroads must accept their offer before they could act.

Secretary Tumulty authorized the following statement: "The heads of the brotherhoods were unable to give the president assurances of any kind." This word was at once transmitted to the congressional leaders.

Chief's Car Skidded.

Wednesday afternoon while returning from the fire on Green street the Oldsmobile runabout of Chief Chipp skidded on the slippery pavement at the corner of Clinton avenue and Albany avenue and collided with a trolley pole, damaging the mud guard and front wheel of the car.

The machine was taken to the Stuyvesant Garage where repairs will be made. In responding to the alarm the motor truck came up Albany avenue and the driver, seeing the wet pavement, slowed up but Chief Chipp who was following closely, did not see the wet, greasy spot until his machine struck it, causing it to skid along the street. On his return from the fire, when the collision occurred, he was driving slowly.

Big Smoke and Small Fire.

A fire which destroyed about ten cents worth of excelsior and caused very much excitement and smoke was discovered in the hallway on the second floor at 38 West Strand shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon. Children of Mrs. Samuels, who reside in the block, gave the alarm and their mother nearly collapsed through fear her children might have been harmed. Two workmen used a pot and a teakettle to subdue the flames, which were in a packing case containing plate glass. Little headway was being made until Fireman Heppner came along and suggested a fire extinguisher, which George L. Wachmeyer brought in record time. The flames were soon out, as was the crowd.

A Visit to Sing Sing.

Wednesday Police Commissioners Leighton, Zeeh, Lay and Cashin and Chief Wingo motored to Ossining and visited Sing Sing prison. They spent two hours, being shown through the prison, and the inspection proved very instructive. While there Chief Wingo had quite a talk with "Doc" Waterbury who is serving "me in prison. It will be remembered that Waterbury excommunicated Dr. C. O. Sahler of this city out of quite a sum of money when he represented himself as Irvin Cobb, the newspaper writer.

PARALYSIS DEATHS IN DUTCHESS CO.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Up to noon today, twenty-seven new cases of infantile paralysis outside of New York city were reported to the state health authorities, together with seven deaths. The deaths were at Troy, Rensselaer county; Buffalo, Erie county; Nelsonville, Putnam county; Staatsburg and Beacon, Dutchess county; Yonkers, Westchester county and Liberty, Sullivan county.

The twenty-seven new cases were reported from these localities:

Westchester county—Yonkers 3, Port Chester 2, Mount Vernon and Greenburg 1 each.

Schoharie county—Wright 2.

Sullivan county—Liberty 2, one at Fallsburg.

Putnam county—One at Nelsonville.

Dutchess county—One each at Arlington, Staatsburg, Beacon and Poughkeepsie.

Jefferson county—One at Thressa.

Nassau county—One at Cedarhurst.

Onondaga county—One at Fabians.

St. Lawrence county—One at Oswego, one at Edwards.

Erie county—One at Buffalo.

Orange county—One at Blooming Grove.

Warren county—One at Queensbury.

Washington county—One at Granville.

Ulster and Orange Statistics.

The state health department's branch at Middletown under the direction of Dr. Edward Clark, sanitary supervisor, has just completed the statistics of infantile paralysis in Orange and Ulster counties.

Following is the data secured from the health officers of Orange county:

Total number of cases 92; cases removed 3; under quarantine 56 and released 11. There have been 22 deaths in the county from poliomyelitis. The mortality rate is 23.9.

Ulster county is as follows: Total number of cases 78; removal 14; under quarantine 39, released 6 and deaths 19. The mortality rate is 24.5.

Dr. Clark stated that the mortality rate in New York city is growing, being now 30 per cent.

Richt Quarantine Praised.

At the Middletown conference of health officers of Orange and Sullivan counties, Dr. Berry, representing the State Health Department, stated that Dr. Burke, the Newburgh health officer, was absolutely justified in imposing the strict quarantine that has been maintained during the infantile paralysis epidemic.

Speaking of the disease, Dr. Berry said: "Medical men see much of human suffering and they naturally become accustomed to it and are perhaps less affected than others, but I want to say I hope to see no more cases of this disease."

"I was called to see the boy of a well-to-do man. He was a brilliant little fellow, suffering acutely from the disease, having the greatest difficulty in breathing. 'Give me air,' he would cry piteously, and he was in paroxysms striving to get it. I had only a minimum dose of serum and injected that. It was followed by so much relief that I told his father that if we could get some more we might save him. The father rushed an automobile to New York, secured a quantity and the machine was within half an hour of home, when the child died."

Poughkeepsie's 72nd Case

One more new case was added Wednesday to the list of infantile paralysis cases in Poughkeepsie. Dr. John S. Wilcox received a report that one case developed on Catherine street.

The patient is Miss Margaret Murphy, sixteen years old, living at 19 Catherine street. The case was the seventy-second since the outbreak of the epidemic in the city a little over two months ago.

Girl Volunteers Blood.

Miss Mary Riley, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Riley, of Wappingers Falls, went with Dr. Ralph Hart to Vassar hospital this week and gave some of her blood for the treatment of infantile paralysis. Miss Riley suffered an attack of this disease several years ago, and when she heard that the doctors were in need of blood for the serum she immediately volunteered.

Dentist Drove to Death.

A New York dentist named T. W. Rivinus was instantly killed about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when an automobile which he was driving on the Albany Post road was overturned three miles south of Wappingers Falls. His neck was broken. He was accompanied by Dr. Henry S. Bartholomew, a physician of No. 207 West 56th street, New York, who escaped serious injury.

Completing Weisberg Building.

Workmen were busy today placing the plate glass windows in the Weisberg building on Fair street. The building is rapidly being completed and will be ready for occupancy within a few weeks. One of the stores will be used as a piano salesroom while Mr. Weisberg will occupy the other ground floor store. Offices will be located on the second floor.

THE SENATOR WALTON
MAKES FIRST TRIP

The barge Senator Walton of Kingston, recently built at the yard of the Schoonmaker-Conners Co. on the island dock, left the creek this morning.

The barge will be loaded at Roseton with one thousand tons of gravel for concrete work in New York city, and after discharging the cargo will enter into the general lightering business in New York harbor.

This barge is one of the largest barges ever built by the Schoonmaker-Conners Co., and made a fine appearance as she sailed out of the Rondout creek.

MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke).

New York Aug. 31.—Christy Mathewson, peering out of the gloom of the Tener cellar, sees before him bright and prosperous days for himself and his Rhineland athletes in 1917.

The new leaders of the Reds realizing that it is an almost hopeless task this season to try to lift his club up to more ethereal heights, is directing his energies now to building for the season that is to come. Matty is trying out now all the highly touted youngsters that have come up to him from the bushes. During the balance of the year he will continue his experiments.

"And in this way I hope to get a line on all the material I have before the 1917 spring training begins," said "Big Six" recently. "The usual plan of waiting until springtime doesn't appeal to me. I want to know before we go south just what each man on the roster can—and cannot—do. Then the spring season can be devoted to perfecting team play."

Nucleus For Great Team.

Mathewson right now has the nucleus for a grand baseball machine. Here and there a few cogs are missing but the veteran slabanman hopes to find them among the raw material that is being shipped to him from the bushes via the purchase and draft route.

The 1916 Red outfield probably will hold over to 1917 unless some phenom is uncovered. Griffith, Neale and Roush all are youngsters—and each is coming along with faster strides each day. The experienced Roush is getting now just what is needed to transform him into an outfielding star of the first water. The same thing is true of Neale, the recent "bush" graduate, who has flashed some pretty work all year. Griffith is a real ball player, a fine thrower, an unerring fielder and a normal 300 stickler.

Listed among the "rookie" candidates for the 1917 Redland outfield is Curto, a Cuban, who has been hitting around .400 for the Portsmouth, Va. Club. True, that club is listed among the remote minors and it isn't any real trick to hit at such a clip there. But here's something for reflection: Curto, playing in the Cuban League during the past two winters, has been the batting champion on both occasions, clubbing for a two year average around .350 topping Matsans and Gonzales, the big league satellites.

Must Find Two Infielders.

Mathewson's biggest task will be to find two real infielders. In Ginch he has one of the greatest third basemen in the game while at first he possesses the still peerless Hal Chase. But a short stopper and second baseman of real worth must be snared from among the group of "rookies" because neither McKetcher nor Lorden seem to have sufficient "kick."

Hobbs, scoured from Dayton, is getting a tryout at short stop. He has shown fielding skill but hasn't done much with the bludgeon. However he was quite a mace artist in the minors and may get into the real soon. If he does, he has a good chance of becoming a regular. As fast as the other youngsters report, they will be injected into the lineup and enjoined to display their wares.

Matty is browsing around for a young hard hitting backstop to act as understudy to Ivy Wingo and Tom Clarke. If he lands him he won't need to worry further about the catching department.

The Reds will lure from the fall grass before the season ends at least a half dozen twirlers who will be given every possible chance to show what they can do. Two or three landed in Gory Hermann's net are referred to as "world beaters" by their former associates Bowman.

snared in South Bend, was the pitching sensation in his league. He is a husky chap of the "iron-man" type and gives promise of being able to stand the big league gaff—and gaff back at the enemy batsmen, in addition.

"I'm hopeful—very hopeful much so—about 1917," declares Matty. "If I can plug up two or three of our present weak spots—well, just watch us!"

Hot Liners.

Big league magnates bustled themselves today in doping trolley auto and boat schedules for their clubs, in case a railroad strike comes on Monday.

Both league presidents today declared that a strike would not be up baseball; that the schedules would be maintained at any cost.

The western clubs in both circuits will play against each other next week. It is the same with the eastern clubs. Therefore, the jumps will not be big ones and can, in emergency, be covered by trolley or automobile.

The big hops will come the week after next. They will send the western clubs of the National League to the Atlantic seaboard and shoot the eastern outfits of the American into the west. That's where the big difficulty comes in moving teams such a great distance without the aid of steam trains.

"But that won't worry us," declared Messrs Johnson and Tener today. "We'll move the teams to their proper points on schedule time. Through the middle west there is a net work of trolleys that will aid us greatly. Also there are many fast suburban lines in the east. Boats will help, too. When neither is available the automobile remains."

PORT EVEN.

Port Even, Aug. 31.—Mrs. J. L. Jones and daughter, Miss Ella, of Kingston spent Tuesday with Mrs. John Farnbacher on Salem street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church have changed the date of their fair to November 21 and 22.

A meeting of the town board of Exopus was held at town clerk's office, George V. Fairbrother, Wednesday afternoon. It was decided to open the public schools September 25.

China Cement.
Take dissolved gum arabic and stir in enough plaster of paris to make a soft paste. This is almost colorless and acts excellently as cement for china. In repairing very delicate china or porcelain, the pieces carefully in place with tape. It is then put into a saucepan of milk and the latter is very gradually brought to boiling point. Remove the saucepan from the fire, but leave the china in it for about six minutes. Lift out carefully and place on a shelf to dry.

Ker-Plunk.

She was a dream. She seemed to float across the big room, such was her grace. Everybody looked. The typewriters stopped. Even the telegraph instruments stopped. Not for many a day had the office been freshened by such a vision. She approached our desk. Proudly we rose. With a smile that revealed the whitest of teeth, she asked, "Where's the city editor at?"

Mr. Kennedy offered the following:

Pursuant to the power vested in the board of health of the town of Ulster, by virtue of Section 21 of the Public Health Law, and by virtue of the other statutes in such case made and provided, be it

FREDDIE WELSH

CHARLIE WHITE

IF MASQUETING IS A MATTER OF WEIGHT, WHITE WINS.

Will it be a horse on Welsh or will White have a doggone hard time winning the lightweight boxing championship on Labor Day?
The injection of the above to electrical conundrums into the situation is a natural consequence of the above picture, for which Charlie and Freddie posed in Colorado, where they are training for their twenty-round clash in Colorado Springs on September 4.
White has adopted the White home town. Welsh puts his faith on being affected by the handicap of the much fame except as the birthplace of the present lightweight champion.NEW
